NEC Express5800/320Ma Fault Tolerant Server End of Service Life Notification

Dear NEC Customers:

Effective December 31, 2011, the NEC Express5800/320MaFault Tolerant Server will reach its End of Service Life (EOSL) cycle. No further orders for new 320Ma Service Maintenance contracts will be accepted effective June 1, 2011. All customers maintaining an active and current contract will be honored to the end of their coverage period.

Support material will continue to be available on the NEC Support site located at: www.necam.com/support.
(Information is subject to change without notification.)

Customers wishing to upgrade/transition to newer NEC Fault Tolerant Servers and or who may have further questions about the EOSL process and its effects, should contact their NEC Sales Managers or NEC Partners.
